Australia is fortunate to have many charitable organisations. However, sometimes people's needs are such that even the mainstream charities are unable to assist. In these situations The Survival Fund may offer help.

We can't provide for long-term care or long-term needs, but often we can help people to survive their crisis. And having survived the crisis, they can give attention to finding the long-term solution to their problems.

The Survival Fund... offering real help to people in crisis.

Yes... I want to help!

You may choose to use the payroll deduction facilities if they are offered at your place of work, or alternatively use the coupon on the right to show your level of support.
